Only One Group Affected The decision said that the case appealed from New York affected only woman laundry workers and that "the rights of no other class of workers are here involved." Justice Butler was one of the four present members of the court who ruled against the District of Columbia law. The others were Mc-Reynolds, Van Devanter and Sutherland. Sutherland delivered that "The State Court," Justice Butler asserted, "rightly held that the Adkins case controls this one and requires that felator (Tipaldo) be discharged upon the ground that the legislation under which he was indicted and imprisoned is repugnant to the 'due process' clause of the fourteenth amendment. "The general statement in the New York act of the fields of labor

it includes, taken in connection with the work not covered, indicates legislative intention to reach all private employers of nearly "The act does not extend to men

"Factual Background."

Referring to the "factual background" of the legislation, Butler said that "much, if not all" that was asserted in justification of the act applies "with equal force in support of the same regulation men's wages."

"While men are left free to fix their wages by agreement with employers" he added, "it would be fanciful to suppose that the regulation of women's wages would be

"Mob" at Charleston.

"There is evidence in the record that officials of union locals in other of the respondent's smalltown plants experienced violence or threats of violence in the summer of 1935. A mob of Charleston citizens, equipped with tar, watched all roads for the appearance in Charleston of Harold Davidson, union agent in Mattoon, on the night of Sept. 11.

"Earlier in the summer, members of the Joint Shoe Council, who had sponsored a meeting in Litchfield, Ill., were run out of town by a citizens' committee; in fact, Ahner, at a meeting in the Missouri Athletic Club on July 22, twitted them about it. Gullion, union organizer in Moberly, testified that on Sept. 9 he received by mail ? paper bearing the names Cox, Carlen, Gullion, McGonigal, Davidson and Norris; lines were drawn through the names Cox, Carlen, Davidson and Norris, union officials who had been beaten and slugged.

The Brown company has plants in Brookfield, Caruthersville and Moberly, in Missouri, Charleston, Dixon, Litchfield, Mattoon, Murphysboro and Pittsfield in Illinois, Vincennes, Ind., and Union City Tenn. At some length the board's ruling goes into how the company migrated to these towns in search of cheap labor and the ingenious contract drawn up with local sponsors of the plant who becom responsible for "peaceable" labor relations on penalty of having the plant shut down. The company is constantly being solicited by citizens and officals of other small towns seeking shoe plants, it wa brought out.

Labor Costs 27 Pct.

Only about 25 to 27 per cent of the wholesale price of the company's shoes represents the cost of labor, according to the board. Materials cost about 60 per cent and the remaining 13 to 15 per cent represents administrative and other op erating costs and profits. The com pany has a total of 10,400 employes of whom 7500 to 8000 are show workers. It is the third largest shoe manufacturing company in the United States.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Jack El-lenstein, known in the underworld as Jack Eller, one of the nine men on trial with Charles "Lucky" Luciano on charges of compulsory prostitution, pleaded guilty today. He was the fourth to enter such a plea. Peter Balitzer, alias Pete Harris, Al Weiner and David Marcus, pleaded guilty when the trial start-ed May 11. Eller was described by Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey as one of the men who booked women for the chain of disorderly houses. Luciano, the State contends headed a syndicate which collected $12,-000,000 a year from the racket. Eller pleaded guilty on advice of his counsel after Supreme Court Justice Philip J. McCook denied motions to dismiss the indictment. Republican National Committee to Meet in Cleveland in Advance of National Convention.

WASHINGTON, June 1. - The National Committee will meet in Cleveland Wednesday to begin drafting the formal roll of cially determined that evidence delegates. Delegate contests involving 56 convention votes from stronger than the testimony of A. South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Alaska and the District of Columbia will be taken up. A final word of these contests will be had by the Credentials Committee, however, after the convention is formally under way.

> Committee for the convention will meet in Cleveland, with comparatively minor matters remaining to

The week-end lull, which found managers for the presidential aspirants completing final arrange-ments and jockeying for favored positions, left largely unchanged the possibilities for a bandwagon rush, nomination on a reasonably early ballot or a deadlock that might bring forward a dark horse. Only 150 delegates have been formally and finally instructed out of the 971 thus far chosen.

PANTEED STATES Claims by Landon and Knox. As matters stood today, mana-gers for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas asserted he would enter the June 9 conclave assured of more than 300 of the necessary 501 delegate votes. Spokesmen for Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, claiming more than 230 ballots at the start, declared he held the "largest solid block" of votes. Other candidates and "favorite sons" carried significant delegate followings. On Wednesday, Indiana Republicans will gather in convention to choose 28 delegates. Sentiment in that State for Landon, Senator Borah of Idaho and Knox has been reported, with the strong likelihood that an uninstructed delegation will sent to Cleveland. With choosing of these votes, and two more from Puerto Rico, the roster of 1001 delegates will be complete.

As uncertain as the outcome of he presidential nomination race is the matter of choosing a vicepresidential running mate, and the formation of a platform. Should a standard bearer be chosen on an early ballot at Cleveland, the spotossible vice-presidential choices. Among those mentioned have been Senator Steiwer of Oregon, the convention keynoter, and Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Dickinson of Iowa. Named also have been Robert A. Taft of Ohio and York. # SENATOR HASTINGS ASSAILS VALIDITY

Declares Lump Sum Appropriation for President Puts Us 'Near to Dictatorship.'

ALSO DENOUNCES WOMEN'S PROJECTS

'Conceived by Woman Such as Mrs. Rosevelt, Delaware Republican Asserts in Last Speech.

WASHINGTON, June 1 .- Senator Hastings (Rep.), Delaware, told the Senate today that lump sum relief appropriations to the President "put us nearer to a dictatorship than anything else that could be done."

In his last speech before retiring from the Senate, Hastings attacked pending plans to appropri-ate $1,425,000,000 to President Roosevelt for next year's work relief program.
"When Congress loses control of the purse, that minute we start to imitate some great countries in Europe," Hastings said. "That minute we start to destroy America."

Seeks to Reconsider Vote.

Before opening his attack on the congressional policy of lump sum appropriations, Hastings moved to reconsider the vote by which the Senate agreed to order a new study of the Florida ship canal.

Senate leaders hoped that a limitation on debate would bring a final vote on the bill by nightfall. Hastings said that if the Government seized all corporation profits this year, there still would be a Treasury deficit. He said the Treasury estimated total corporate income this year at $7,200,000,000.

Woman's Project Defined. Directing his fire at a provision of the relief bill allocating $85,-500,000 for "women's projects," Hastings said it was "perfectly silly" to leave such a provision on the "I want to know what a woman's Hastings said such blanket appropriations "destroy the precedent upon which we have built up this great Government.'

Emphasizing that he was making the last speech he expected to make in the Senate, Hastings de-clared the bill unconstitutional. "If it's constitutional we ought to tear up the Constitution itself," he

Senator Minton (Dem.), Indiana, in replying to Hastings, said that 16 billion dollars of the public debt was a carryover from "when constituents of the Delaware Senator waxed fat" and when, he said, there was "not a chirp" from them about taxes. Minton defend ed the job the Works Progress Administration had done in his State.

DE PAUL HOSPITAL STUDENT NURSES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

The Rev. F. X. McCabe, C. M., in Sermon, Says Greatest Curse Today Is Selfishness.

Diplomas were awarded to 24 graduates of the De Paul Hospital School of Nursing Sunday after-noon in the hospital chapel, 2415 North Kingshighway. The Rev. F. X. McCabe, C. M., director of the auxiliary of the Vincentian Fa-thers, preached the sermon.

The diplomas were presented to the graduates by the Rev. Leo P. Foley of Kenrick Seminary. The program included a solo, "On This Day, Beautiful Mother," sung by Miss Genevieve Bayer; a solo, "Lead Me All the Way," sung by Tom Foley, and a solo, "Panis Angelicus," sung by Jack Coleman. Father McCabe, in his sermon, declared that the greatest curse of the present day was selfishness "You have been trained to make sacrifices," he told the graduates. "The world needs women trained as you are. Whether Catholic or non-Catholic, the obligation is the same, that of service.

GIRL, 16, FOUND STRANGLED Body in Closet of Room Where

NEW YORK, June 1.—Officers Thompson, 41-year-old unemployed seaman, last night found under a pile of clothes in a closet in his room the body of a 16-year-old girl who had been strangled to death

The girl was identified by a sister as Adel Doubenick of Brooklyn. The sister, whose name was found on a piece of paper in the room, said she never had heard of Thompson, whose body was found with a gas tube in his mouth. Police said he had killed the girl and himself.

Virginia, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rathcliffe, 2920 Henrietta street, was taken to City Hospital last night after she became ill suddenly and playmates said she had drunk from a small bottle found in an alley behind her ne. At the hospital it was said the bottle had contained poison.

THAT coast climate does all I right for mankind, but for the horses it doesn't seem to hold good. The year developed two sensational race horses on the Pacific Coast-Airflame, Alfred Whitney's fast-flying two-year-old, and Indian Broom, which smashed the world record for one and one-eighth miles in a whale

But see what happened to them away from California. Broom wasn't even close to Brevran in the Kentucky Derby; and last Saturday Airflame suffered his first defeat of the year in the

There were reasons for Indian Broom's inferior showing — he took up 30 pounds more weight in the Derby than he carried in anchored him.

In the case of Airflame, that track scorcher was beaten by three other contenders, quitting under the hard stretch drive and falling back from second to place. It is possible that he was a bit short, for it was first race since he made his long trip from Los Angeles. At that he was only a length and two noses back of the winner.

The queer part about Air-flame's first defeat is that he had worked in a recent effort faster than Saturday's race was run. And the time in that. 1:00 4-5, is just ordinary on that course for juveniles of highest quently accomplished on the turf. The first is trying to beat a colt with a filly of equal class, and the second is, trying to make a three-year-old concede weight to an older horse of equal class, In the long run neither works out, as turf history shows.

Saturday, the handicapper for the Suburban at Belmont asked Granville to concede 11 pounds to Firethorn, an older horse of real class, one proved in big stakes. They let Firethom with 116 when his scale is

We're fighting your enemies!

Friends! Millions of them! Budweiser has made them and kept them by fighting its enemies...your enemies, too, if you like good beer. Night and day, our laboratory does an army-and-navy job of being on guard, protecting Budweiser against a hundred and one things that could spoil the brew...broken barley that won't sprout..."wild yeast" in the air...dryness in hops...mineral changes in water...uneven temperature. Success! Your Budweiser is always the same old Budweiser -always pure, uniform and gratifying.

Revolutionized Medicine and Surgery! Pasteur learned from studying brewery methods how doctors could keep people healthier. The Home of Budweiser pioneered another important discovery by the great French scientist—pasteurization.

ANHEUSER-BUSCH ST. LOUIS

A Sensible Drink! Budweiser is an aid to digestion...a body-builder...not fattening . . . soothing to the nerves. No other drink, soft or hard, can take the place of Budweiser for those who want to feel fit and clearheaded . . . morning, noon and night ... every day of the year.

The Post-Dispatch opposed the payment of the Department for, if not to fill such bonus at this time. We felt that the original provi-breaches? All our previous administra- sion of the adjusted compensation law, passed in 1945, should have been adhered to. It was shown that by paying the bonus now, the taxpayers were being called upon to pay a sum vastly in excess of the original bonus amount, this because, in calculating that amount, compound interest was included until red 1945. In other words, the country is paying interest or the United States is told to mind its which is not due and it must float interest-bearing securities to pay that interest. Furthermore, payment of the bonus opens the way for a demand for service pensions which, if passed, will add more billions to the staggering bill already rolled up in behalf of the veterans.

Now, however, that the bonus is shortly to be paid, it would be tragic if the veterans should fall into the hands of crooks and gamblers. The police beer saloons were opened, and many hard of St. Louis and St. Charles have been put on their guard by the Maginness murder. Some of Congressman Marion Zioncheck's antics are merely time-worn playboy stuff; others are offenses against parliamentary rules of courtesy; still others reprehensible enough in a private citizen but are downright disgraceful in one who is elected to represent the people in the national Congress.

What Would Horace Greeley Say Now?

With vanishing of Western frontier, editor's advice is no longer valid; writer analyzes movement to cities, then back to land in depression years, and asks if latter trend is permanent; doubts that factories will ever move to rural regions; advises in effect that the best opportunities will be found on the rim of thriving industrial cities.

Prof. Carter Goodrich of Columbia University in Survey Graphic.

MERICANS used to know where to go. A Horace Greeley's advice was easy to give.
It was not hard to predict that the westward current would continue until the good land was occupied. Long before that movement began to slacken, another tide of migration started to carry farm people to the cities and gained increasing momentum from decade to decade.

During the 1920s, the great majority of counties were losing more migrants than they were receiving. The great urban agglomerations increased tremendously, and in some of them, as in a whirlpool, there was a counter-eddy out from the crowded center. The general motion was urban centralization; an undertow drew migrants out to

There can be little doubt that these two movements of population carried Americans, on the whole, in the direction of economic advantage. But the present holds no such easy certainty. For half a century, the frontier outlet has been closed, and for more than half a decade, the city gates also have been shut. When millions are out of work, where to go becomes an urgent question.

In their perplexity, many thousands have drifted into a spontaneous back-to-the-land movement. Our governments have taken unprecedented steps to guide and control the placement of population. What are the results of these emergency measures? What can and what should be done to guide migration toward genuine opportunity?

Between 1930 and 1933, the long-time trend was reversed, and the farms gained more people than they lost. A number of observers believed that the new trend would be permanent, and perhaps even more hoped it might prove so. Have the depression migrants led the way to a better distribution of our population?

Such recent studies as those of the National Resources Board and the Study of Population Redistribution demonstrate decisively enough-and floods and dust storms demonstrate more effectively-that misguid ed settlement, or population increase coupled with advancing erosion, have resulted in the practice of agriculture in considerable areas in which it is impossible to raise a decent living, to support the social services or to prevent a rapid wasting of our soil resources. Details aside, efforts to provide other opportunities for those now caught in these situations, and to prevent recurrence of such catastrophes, must be regarded as Perhaps it is industry that will move back to the land. We must therefore ask whether a wide decentralization of industry is pable or desirable. To some the matter is a foregone conclusion, and many believe that a vast movement in this direction is already well begun. To this, at least, a definite answer can be given.

In 1929, the Census of Manufactures se lected a list of 200 counties, including all turing employment in the United States and containing almost three-quarters of all the wage jobs. This small group of counties held almost precisely the same proportion of the total employment, and paid slightly more than the same proportion of total wages, in 1933 as in 1899. The significant thing is that even the new developments in general were concentrated rather than scatered over the countryside. During an en ency toward the dispersion of employment

Within these limited areas, however, a different type of decentralization has fact taken place. In 1899, nearly two-fifths of all the wage jobs in manufacturing were concentrated in the principal cities of the great industrial areas. In 1933, only onethird were in the cities—a shrinkage of 16.6 per cent. The corresponding gains occurred counties that appear in the shading of more

The characteristic movement, therefore, has been a diffusion or spreading of industry-rather than dispersion. Both population and manufactures have tended to move out from centers of the cities to their rim

With or without governmental intervention, it appears inevitable, barring a general economic collapse, that great currents of miture and from South to North and West: and increasing part of the stream will find its way to the peripheries of the existing industrial areas.

In the future, as in the past, the invasion of large armies of raw recruits from the country will make difficult the maintenance of labor standards or the organization of an effective union movement, though these threats would be still more serious if indus-But to attempt to hold the fast increasing surplus of farm manpower within the confines of agriculture would condemn to even deeper poverty many thousands of our people already existing on incomes that must seem almost unbelievably meager to any Migration is no solution for the problems of a general depression, and it is no panacea at any time. But the extraordinary contrasts between regions in income and opportunity appear to demonstrate the exstence of "population pockets" where inertia and lack of information, combined with excessive birthrates, keep the number of people far above that which the region can decently support. To reduce these into the changing opportunities of a dynamic society, migration on a large scale must remain one of the essential methods of ad-

In a time in which it is harder than ever before for Americans to know where to go, it is a hopeful sign that the Government has begun to assume a greater responsibility for the placement of population.

WHEN Hamilton was urging in the Federalist his famous arguments for adoption of the Federal Constitution, he tried to dissipate fears of a "duplication of tax bur dens" and "double sets of revenue officer To him, taxation for a nation of 13 youthful states looked so easy that he predicted:

"When the particular/debts of the states are done away, and their expenses come to be limited within their natural compass, the ssibility almost of interference will vanish. # Simple Arithmetic

THAT ADDS UP TO FINANCIAL SECURITY

Saving is a much more simple matter than we sometimes think. It is often merely the result of planning, and of regularity in carrying out our plans.

Most of us have certain big bills to be met each year, such as insurance, taxes, interest or payment on loans, etc. If we have to pay these bills out of one month's salary, they may become a burden, but by saving something each pay day to meet them, their payment becomes a routine matter.

Likewise, in saving for the future - for your financial security - it is the regularity rather than the size of deposits that determines their usefulness to you.

The Koplar Co., which issued the bonds, has a plan of reorganization for its holdings other than the Park Plaza pending under a bankruptcy procedure in Federal Court and the insurance company sought to foreclose the Park Plaza mortgage so that it might obtain a deficiency judgment under which a claim might be filed in the reorganization

U. S. SUPREME COURT REJECTS URSCHEL KIDNAPING APPEAL

defuses to Interfere in Case of Attorney Laska, Sentenced for Conspiracy.

WASHINGTON June 1 -- Ben B Laska, Denver criminal lawyer, lost today in the United States Supreme Court his appeal from a 10-year prison term imposed after conviction of conspiracy in connection with the $200,000 abduction of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man. The court refused to interfere with the decision of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals, which approved the sentence.

Laska contended his constitutional rights had been violated by instructions to the jury, introduction of newspaper articles as evidence against him, and by use of the term "ransom money" during his trial in Oklahoma.

$16,600 TAX APPEAL FAILS

WASHINGTON, June 1. - The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld today the Collector of Internal Revenue in disallowing a $16,623 deduction in the 1930 income tax return of Mrs. Dorothy B. Morse of Greenwich, Conn. The commissioner previously had been upheld by the Board of Tax Appeals. Mrs. Morse, granddaughter of the late Paul Brown, St. Louis capitalist, made the deduction for attorneys' and accountants' fees, but the Revenue Commissioner ruled the expenses personal and not deductible. A tax deficiency of $2818 was Record Almost Blank "On the basis of his official acts utterances and silence, it would appear that Gov. Landon is a mod erate advocate of state regulation of utilities who has mildly carried predecessors. Reed and Woodring; is opposed to local municipal own ership; has been as silent as Coolidge on the shocking utility lobby investigations of the past eight tion, and has said nothing on nationally important utility legislation and policies. In view of his conspicuous silence and the wellknown active support his candidacy is receiving from utility interests of all kinds nationally, it seems safe to predict that if elected Presiported by progressives of all par ties would not receive his support.

The league makes the flat declaration that Landon was against municipal owenership of utilities in his home town of Independence and that he opposed a $60,000 bond issue which could have saved the town $1200 a month through the installation of a Deisel engine to pump water, light streets and per form other strictly municipal serv

The league declares that while the utilities ostensibly supported John R. Brinkley; the 'goat gland' doctor in the three cornered guber natorial fight in 1932, when the other candidates were Gov. Harry H. Woodring and Landon, evidence introduced at the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the utility industry indicated that Landon was their "real" candidate.

Rejoicing Over Landon.
The league reproduces three letters written after the election by Earle W. Hodges of New York, one of Henry L. Doherty's public rela-tions men who had been sent into the Kansas campaign.

The first, dated Nov. 10, 1932, was sent to W. R. Phipps, manager of the Wichita Gas Co., and

EASY TO OWN!

For many years this growing preference for electric cookery has been evident. In response to this interest, the electric range dealers of St. Louis, cooperating with Union Electric Light and Power Company, set out to make it easy to own an electric range. Now there is no charge for installing electric ranges, under the standard installation plan. There are highly efficient ranges—speedy, simple to operate, beautiful to look at - available on terms that suit every pocketbook. You have low electric rates which make it economical to cook electrically. And the result is this: St. Louis women today are buying three times as many electric ranges as they were one short year ago!

REDUCED FARES

A NEW HIGH IN Comfort and Service!

TO HUNDREDS OF CITIES—EFFECTIVE AT ONCE

Excursions and rate cuts may come and go-but here's the biggest transportation news for the year! Effective right now, Greyhound Lines cut ticket cost to nearly all parts of America in the most sweeping rate revision of modern travel history. The new reduced scale of fares puts the cost of Greyhound travel far below any other form of first-class transportation. Sample rates in the adjoining column tell the story graphically.

What a splendid time for these deep reductions-with millions of Americans planning vacation trips! And how greatly these summer plans are simplified - with so many dollars saved for extra days of enjoyment, extra miles to explore vacation-land.

More Schedules--New Coaches

But no reduction in service, comfort, or courtesy! In fact, greatly increased facilities will be offered-with many more daily schedules. The usual liberal reductions on round-trip tickets (with 6-month return limit), stopover privileges, optional scenic routes. More good news - Greyhound will soon put into service a fleet of new streamlined super-coaches, finest on the world's highways. For all trip information, stop in, or phone:

By the Associated Press.

ANGOLER, La., June 1.—Wilfred Jindsly, who killed a State prison official and the latter's wife when he escaped from a prison farm last Wednesday, ended his own life when trapped by a posse yesterday. Lindsly was cornered in a ravine after a hostage, James Hamilton, a prison trusty guard, escaped during Lindsly's unsuccessful attempt to steal an automobile from a tool abed on the prison farm. Hamilton had been held for three days.

Bullets from possemen's rifles were ripping through the brush close to him when Lindsly took a last shot at his pursuers and then turned his weapon on himself.

placed new passenger car registrations in April at approximately 398,000 units, the largest, for the month in six years.

Overnight Developments.

In addition to the Treasury's huge financing program, at record low interest rates, financial quarters took another look at the steel situation.

The magazine "Steel" noted that prices of more finished products have been advanced, with operations holding well against the usual decline at this time of yeaf.

Lettings of structural steel last week it was said showed a slight.

half worn out.

The human heart, which never stops or rests until death comes, is a pump built to irrigate, feed, and supply with life-giving oxygen hundreds of billions of separate cells that make up the body.

There are thirty thousand million such cells in the brain alone. Ask Dr. Carrel. Every extra pound in old age means extra billions of cells the heart to irrigate.

Get thin, and stay thin, after 40, and you will live longer. You put a lighter load on an old horse, so make the load lighter for an old heart; there are no 60-inch waists sible. Those children who fail on the Friday morning's speed test do not improve from week to week. They usually get worse and the reason is clear. The worst of the whole mistaken business is the reports the teacher sends home Friday afternoon.

"Dear Madam: Your child failed again this morning on his speed test in numbers. Kindly see that he studies to improve his marks. Unless there is considerable imrovement by the end of this month his chances for promotion are poor.

Sincerely yours Now that threat of non-promo tion is about the worst that can be held over a child's head. It is the one threat that many parents of public school children take to heart. They take it to mean a loss of six months' time, a threat of family disgrace, an indication of neglect and wickedness on the part of the failing child. Their remedy for all this is a beating for the child. Many children have been brutally treated because they failed to come under the wire at Friday's speed test. Surely such a result is far from the desire of the worthy supervisor who asks for 75 per cent of each class to answer 100 per cent perfect under the stop-watch.

HIS speeding is no good even for the children who can make the required time. Those who manage it easily are not helped. They are just as fit as before, minus the nervous energy and consequent strain of the ordeal. Those whose nervous systems are not so sturdy are badly shaken. The fear that they will make a mistake, that they will not have their pencil down at the fateful instant when TIME is called, brings on mental confusion.
They lose their hold and stumble blindly through the exercise and suffer anguish the while it lasts. And afterwards for them to get that note to take home. What value is there in a speed test, that can come anywhere near making good, to the children for the strain of its

NEW YORK, May 30. THE "feminine angle" gives a new slant to summer spectator sports clothes evolved by American designers. The girls who gather at country clubs, polo games and week-end parties will appear in colorful short sleeved frocks as casual as a summer breeze and worn with accesories which give them a feminine air.

Even the crisply tailored outfits combining a jacket with a frock or skirt are accented by scarfs, belts, buttons and bags banishing severely masculine effects.

Frocks Many of the new jacket frocks for summer are sporty in character—ideal types for spectator sports, for motoring, cruise or various wardrobes.

Sun-Caused Vitamin D Is Present.

Calcium Utilized Only When

Logan Clendening, M. D.

THERE are four little glands in the neck behind the thyroid, known as the "parathyroids," which have to do with calcium nutrition, bone and tooth growth. An interesting recent develop ment in the study of these impor-tant structures has been that of Wilder and Howell, of the Mayo Clinic, who have found that par-athyroid disturbance occurs most often in the northern part of the United States Dr. Clendeni -that is, in the regions receiving relatively little sunshine. This finding hooks up with the known facts about the influence of sunshine upon that disorder of bone and ooth growth known as "rickets.

We have often pointed out in this column that sunshine has a definite influence upon the development of rickets. This is particularly due to the fact that bone health is dependend upon the presence of vitamin D in the blood stream, and vitamin D is formed in the animal body by the action of sunshine on the skin.

Interdependent.

The whole cycle makes an interesting example of the interdependence of different functions of the body. Bone is made from calcium, and calcium is obtained in the food, A deficiency of calcium will cause rickets, and yet a sufficiency of calcium in the diet, in the absence of other factors, will not prevent rickets. These other factors are (first) the presence of vitamin D and (second) the function of the parathyroid glands.

What apparently happens is that the bones and teeth utilize calcium only when the calcium is activated by vitamin D, and the bony cells are stimulated by the parathyroid

We have known for some time, as has been said above, that the for mation of vitamin D is dependent upon sunshine, but we are only now learning that the activity of the parathyroid glands is also dependent upon sunshine.

The investigators mentioned did not necessarily find proved cases of rickets. They found indications that the parathyroid glands were attempting to increase their secretion, and that in the North Atlantic states, the upper Mississippi valley, and in England and Scotland, the BRENDA FAYRE at 22 has been for years the sole support of her invalid sister, LALLY. While Brenda has earned their living, Lally in her wheelchair has kept house with only her canary, Peter, for company. After Brenda had been without work for several weeks she receives an offer from WALTER JASON, promoter and mining stock salesman. Jason offers to hire her to entertain prospective stock buyers—offers to buy the wardrobe she will need—offers to pay her $50 a week and give her a commission on sales.

Though she suspects Jason of selling worthless stock Brenda accepts his offer in order to support Lally. She hopes to keep secret from Lally the type of "work" she is doing. Her deceit is made possible by the storing of her "siren" wardrobe in the apartment of ETHEL BUSH. "Thanks," Denise acknowledged. The wretch would be off-hand, would she? Denise permitted herself the closest inspection etiquette allowed. Not unattractive, she had to own. One of those casually goodlooking people, dressed with easy, unemphatic good taste; no drama, Denise decided. Brown-shot-withgold hair, short, brushed back off her face anyhow; lazy green eyes.

Certainly, her rival charms were not formidable, Denise decided complacently. Potentially beautiful, the girl was merely pretty, too easy-going to be otherwise. She deserved to lose Barry. Barry needed the kind of allure which Denise had so abundantly.

EXPLANATION OF SATURDAY'S CARTOON

THE MIRACULOUS ESCAPE—Konrad Merkhe, a soldier in the 27th regiment, fighting in the Peninsular War In Portugal under the command of the Duke of Wellington, deserted in the battle near Coimbra, Portugal, Oct., 1810. He was recaptured by a Portuguese regiment commanded by the English Colonel Wilson, in a raid upon the city, and was ordered shot by the Commander in Chief. He was placed before a firing squad, and 6 muskets were discharged upon him. By an incredible miracle, all 6 muskets jammed at the same time and Merkhe was shaken but otherwise unharmed. The chances against 6 muskets jamming at the same time are mathematically incalculable. Upon a report being made to Wellington, the latter quashed the court martial proceedings and ordered Merkhe reinstated, after the latter pledged that he would henceforth act as an honorable and valiant soldier.
